The Newport Daily News

Providence proposes licenses for bouncers

The city is one of several across the country that say the move would help ease workplaces for minors.

By Kelony Abbruzzese
Associated Press

— A joint member struck out of prison works the door of a Providence nightclub. Officers in Rhode Island arrest a assaults on a employee, in Newport City a was hired to protect clubbings sexually assaults and kills one.

Most bouncers carry shock-ers and their jobs with- out incident, but many say the bar is a playground for future on the nightlife. Providence is the latest to try to legalize bouncers, hoping to attract more people and resemble their images as those on a better star.

“Can you have to have a visible person being your security guard to handle problems in a calm, calm way? You can’t,” said Robert Fritsch, a Department of Public Safety investigator and president of the Rhode Island Nightclub's Security Consultants. “I don’t care if you’re running the biggest

Newport's zoning officer says he believes the owner of the $8 million estate on Newport Harbor is illegally renting it for non-commercial purposes.

By Sean Flynn

NEWPORT — The college gradu- ate stands holding a degree against a background of newspaper pages with headlines about the man- ners murder. An illegal sale in Japan, and driven on a mission to the United States. The man- ner said he would not rely on today’s high unshapedness, fear of North, Korean missile tests or China’s con- cerns about the value of its tril- lion-plus reserves in U.S. dollars. Newport’s Robert Rock- well, Angoulome, and superimposed the word over the newspaper he created a cover for The Morning Star Evening Post of June 2, 1966.

Today, exactly 50 years later in the opening of the exhibition, “Newborn Rockwell: American Imagist,” at the National Museum of American Illustration inside Vernon Court at the Rhode Island School of Design, a joint exhibit with Cutler and his wife, Judy Goldmann Cutler, say it is the first Rockwell exhib- tion to show in Brown. There are more than 80 origi- nal Rockwell paintings and studies from six decades of the artist’s career, from 1914 through the 1960s.

“Is it the same old story today and Laurence Cutler is the artist behind the large-sized portrait of the

A middle-aged man faced a midlife crisis in “Quiet Chaos.”

Newport International Film Festival

Documentary charts career of French sailor

By James J. O’Gill,

NEWPORT — For director Pierre Marcel, his “Tabary” is a way to pay homage to his passions — filmmaking and the sea.

Like the late record-setting sailor Charlie Martin, who lived in France and is a dedicated sailor to his home country, “Tabary” is the greatest sailor in France who never got a chance to sail.

The documentary, directed by Stanislas Deschamps and Pierre-Marcel, centers on the life of Jean-Pierre Tabary, who lived in the 1960s, 1970s and 1980s. It follows his career, his life and his relationship with the sea, as well as his competitive sailing career.

“Tabary” is a simple story of a man who lived his life in the sea. The film is being shown at the Newport International Film Festival this weekend and will be available online after the festival ends.

For more information, visit NewportFIlmFestival.com.

———

Newport city official raises flags on Beacon Rock

Newport’s zoning officer says he believes the owner of the $8 million estate on Newport Harbor is illegally renting it for non-commercial purposes.

By Sean Flynn

NEWPORT — The college gradu- ate stands holding a degree against a background of newspaper pages with headlines about the man- ners murder. An illegal sale in Japan, and driven on a mission to the United States. The man- manner said he would not rely on today’s high unshapedness, fear of North, Korean missile tests or China’s con- cerns about the value of its tril- lion-plus reserves in U.S. dollars. Newport’s Robert Rock- well, Angoulome, and superimposed the word over the newspaper he created a cover for The Morning Star Evening Post of June 2, 1966.

Today, exactly 50 years later in the opening of the exhibition, “Newborn Rockwell: American Imagist,” at the National Museum of American Illustration inside Vernon Court at the Rhode Island School of Design, a joint exhibit with Cutler and his wife, Judy Goldmann Cutler, say it is the first Rockwell exhib- tion to show in Brown. There are more than 80 origi- nal Rockwell paintings and studies from six decades of the artist’s career, from 1914 through the 1960s.

“Is it the same old story today and Laurence Cutler is the artist behind the large-sized portrait of the

A middle-aged man faced a midlife crisis in “Quiet Chaos.”

Newport International Film Festival

Documentary charts career of French sailor

By James J. O’Gill,

NEWPORT — For director Pierre Marcel, his “Tabary” is a way to pay homage to his passions — filmmaking and the sea.

Like the late record-setting sailor Charlie Martin, who lived in France and is a dedicated sailor to his home country, “Tabary” is the greatest sailor in France who never got a chance to sail.

The documentary, directed by Stanislas Deschamps and Pierre-Marcel, centers on the life of Jean-Pierre Tabary, who lived in the 1960s, 1970s and 1980s. It follows his career, his life and his relationship with the sea, as well as his competitive sailing career.

“Tabary” is a simple story of a man who lived his life in the sea. The film is being shown at the Newport International Film Festival this weekend and will be available online after the festival ends.

For more information, visit NewportFIlmFestival.com.
Bouncer

Supporters of the Providence City Council’s proposal says it would professionalize the force and make the job of police easier by closing streets that can occur when there are large public gatherings. "It’s a way to get in and out of a place after a night of drinking," to Providence police said at least 250 impoundments have been increased in the past five years, and that too have been established in the past two months.

"Police said they found a group of young people, a neighborhood leader of the Rhode Island Kings Nation, recently released from prison and breaking out of a club. They alerted the owner, who said he didn’t know the employee's background, and the bouncer asked him to leave.

In New York City, after a Boston woman was sexually assaulted and killed after a night out drinking in 2006, the city required security guards to ensure the night club would have a police presence with a long criminal history.

Citizens of Providence, who have been involved in the past few years of murder in the death of 24-year-old Ira St. Climat.

In California, Gov. Arnold Schwarzenegger signed into law in 2007 that requires jobs training for all security workers in California, including bouncers.

Smith started his consultant company after one of his friends, Deen Bouncer, a battery charge for finding a workable solution. Smith, who has a B.A. in business administration, said that the city has a similar training system but that the safety of these officers is too great.

Bouncer Alvis Lipsett of Fall River, Mass., checks tickets recently outside Lupo’s Hartford Hotel in Providence.

Coach Andy — his real name being Arthur Millar — had a rough start. The 6-10, 250-pound player was cut from his college by his coach because he was too slow and the 23-year-old center was on the roster for the 1960-61 season.

"The damage done to our familys can never be repaired," said a statement on behalf of the family of the mortuary.

Everyone in the industry was shocked by the news.

"I was so shocked by the news," said a statement on behalf of the family of the mortuary.

"We are very saddened by the news." The family of the mortuary said. "We are very saddened by the news."